

PEORIA PAVING AGAIN HELD UP

This Time It Is an Injunction Against the Building of Sewer

DRAINAGE NECESSARY

Commissioner Steiner Asks Civic Clubs to Take an Interest in Matter

That public sentiment may be aroused to a degree that will cause it to have an influence in the case, Commissioner O. A. Steiner has sent letters to virtually all civic organizations asking that their members take an interest in the injunction against building an outlet across Peoria avenue opposite Woodward park, providing a spillway for the Woodward park lake. This injunction was filed by L. E. Z. Aaronson, who owns considerable property adjoining this avenue on the west. The result is that the contractor has been stopped and nothing can be done until a hearing has been held and the injunction dissolved.

"Somehow I feel that Mr. Aaronson has failed to grasp the necessity of this work, which will provide a paved road for thousands of our good citizens. The drainage at Woodward park, which is under way of construction, is absolutely necessary and must go in before the paving is laid.

"We have had one difficulty right after another in regard to the paving of this avenue and feel that something should be done by the good citizens to help out in this matter. A vigorous protest from all parties interested would be a great deal toward having this matter properly adjusted.

"Let me appeal to you at this time to give us whatever assistance is possible."

Steiner's letter to the real estate exchange was presented and read at the weekly meeting of that organization at Ed Woods' cafe Thursday noon. Acting without delay, D. C. Powers, president of the exchange, appointed T. A. Trusty, C. H. Menlow and John H. Miller on a committee to visit and discuss the injunction with L. E. Z. Aaronson, at whose request it was issued in district court. Aaronson is a property owner on South Peoria.

The paving of Peoria, which has been an object of Steiner's efforts for several months, and which only a few days ago appeared assured, has been attended with numerous difficulties. One of these was the working out of a plan whereby that part in the county could be paved at the same time as the section within the city. Peoria is one of the city's principal thoroughfares and when paved will provide an outlet to the Skiatook paved road north and the Jenks paved road south.

The drainage project on Peoria, which Dan A. Burton is the contractor and on which work has been held up by the injunction, is designed to allow a runoff for part of the water that usually stands in Woodward park. This body of water frequently overflows and washes away sections of the street and, according to Steiner, unless this overflow can be prevented it would not be advisable to lay paving, which would be undermined and disintegrated.

New York Court Says Owner of Railroad Stock Loses Oil Land.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The United States circuit court of appeals in a decision handed down today affirmed the action of the federal district court in dismissing the injunction suit brought by Clarence H. Venner, against the Southern Pacific company and its directors and the Pacific Oil company and its directors.

Venner alleged that the segregation of the Southern Pacific's rail and oil properties required by the Hepburn act and the turning over of the oil properties to the Pacific Oil company would deprive him of interests he had as stockholder of the Southern Pacific company in the property of the Southern Pacific Land company, a subsidiary.

HOME THRIFT IS VERY IMPORTANT

Campaign Speaker Emphasizes Part Women Can Play

Practice of thrift by women is just as important, if not more important, to the welfare of the family and the nation as thriftiness on the part of men or the younger generation. In the opinion of N. E. Graham, special representative of the Exchange National bank, Graham is one of the few thrift speakers whom local women have heard during thrift week, the general thrift committee having found more difficulty in establishing contact with the housewife and other women than with men and school children.

Graham expressed his belief on this angle of the general subject of thrift frankly before the Women's club. "There are many men in this town who are afraid to get their expenses back to a basis on which they can live and their business can survive because they are afraid to face their wives with such news," he said. "Like Jiggs, of comic fame, few of them fear to tell mother and the children that they must live in more modest quarters, drive fewer miles with the car, or even give it up, wear more simple clothing and even do more of the housework—all because their love makes them cowards. And so in Tulsa as throughout the world father strains every nerve in order that his family may have the things to which they are accustomed.

A wife can be a very real help to her husband in time of financial stringency, he concluded. "If such men are to be saved, loved ones must do it. Creditors won't and after they step in a problem now simple and even happy if taken in time and in the right spirit, will become a tragedy to all concerned. Some people must go to the end of the rope before they can again learn to live within their means, but such people not only ruin themselves, but injure the nation and the world at large. Men speakers I know, at way like to tell the ladies that the fate of the world rests in their hands and yet I would not be telling you the truth in this connection unless I said just that to you."
